I'd like a Face Painter for my event, what should I know and expect before booking my event?

Below are some tips and FAQ's to help you decide.

(go on to next page if this doesn't apply)

- If you are sponsoring or getting a sponsor for the event and want to provide face painting for free, remember this is a major attraction, therefore lots of people will line up to get their face painted. Have a good location and put up a sign saying who sponsored the event.

- Have realistic expectations on the amount of people that will want a free or paid per face session. 1 face painter can only do about 14-16 kids per hour, at 4-5 minutes a kiddo. That's in and out of the chair as well.
- We can do 2 face painters and give a speed selection down to 3 minutes a kiddo, to get everyone through. A budget friendly approach for an event if you have a limited budget is PPF (guarantee of at least 8-10 people per hour to paint)
- If you want PPF (pay per face) normally detailed face painting is from $8-$15 per person based on the design. So larger families tend to not choose this because if they have 4-5 kids it may be out of budget. However if you need a fun choice/option for kids this is the one to have to make your event more fun!
- We also have a fundraising option as well. This one is the contracted price based on times and amount of people, we have you pre pay and then we charge per face paint (or free will donation) and give the charged money to your fundraising goal.

Times: _____ Speed: A typical face painter can do about 12-15 faces per hour.
